

Meet the Client

INDUSTRY

AUTOMOTIVE

REVENUE

$100M

Family owned automotive group and related real-estate companies. Patriarch has 2 children not involved in the business, and would like to sell the automotive group to nephews in the next 5 years.

What Was Done

CAPTIVE FORMATION

Similar to the client owning property and leasing it out to his/her dealership(s), we formed a captive insurance company to insure the auto group. In doing so we were able to: (1) Level out the impact of losses across the portfolio of locations to insure against cash-flow losses, and (2) create equity outside of the business as a personal asset.

SAMPLE RISKS

- Unreasonable Investment Forced by Manufacturer
- Mis-distribution of Product by the Manufacturer
- Regulatory Changes
- Loss of Franchise
- Factory Audits
- Damage of Brand Reputation (Toyota recalls, Mercedes diesel lawsuit, etc)
- Cyber Risk
- Delay of Utilities
- Frozen Capital

Result

Depending on the amount of claims experienced, the captive may generate investable surplus. Captive equity is self-directed by the captive owner.

By separating the captive from the business, the owner has accomplished the important step of removing these monies from the reach of the creditors of the businesses.

OVER TEN YEARS A SINGLE CAPTIVE HAS THE POTENTIAL TO GENERATE A SURPLUS OF OVER

$15,500,000

Disclaimer: This information is not intended or offered as legal, tax, insurance, or accounting advice, nor is it intended to provide a comprehensive description of all products and services offered by CaptiveOne. These materials have been prepared for educational and informational purposes only. They are not legal advice or legal opinions on any specific matters. Not all legal, accounting or tax issues or contingencies pertinent to any individual or entity that establishes or operates a captive insurance company are addressed in these materials, and there may be complex legal and tax implications associated with forming and owning a captive. Readers should not act, or fail to act, upon this information without seeking the advice of a lawyer, accountant, or other appropriate professional familiar with their particular circumstances to determine whether the products and services offered by CaptiveOne are appropriate for them and as to (i) the deductibility of premiums paid to a captive and (ii) the tax treatment to be afforded dividends and distributions from a captive. Any analysis regarding the benefits of owning a captive insurance company must factor in the possibility that insurance and tax laws may change in the future. This information contains forward-looking statements that involve risks and uncertainties, including as to the financial performance of a captive insurance company. Any tax advice contained in this communication was not intended or written to be used, and cannot be used, for the purpose of (i) avoiding tax-related penalties under Federal, state, or local tax law; or (ii) promoting, marketing, or recommending to another party any transaction or matter addressed herein.